

This was clearly an oversight and not the intent of the vanity call sign process. It is also unfair to those who cannot afford to submit multiple applications, and adds additional workload to the, already stretched, FCC staff. In the interest of fairness, as well as logic, each applicant should be allowed to submit a single application as identified in RM-10582.